Introduction

This document applies to male circumcision only, not other aspects of the medical practice of the doctors or medical practices listed.

The names, addresses, and other information in this booklet are given in good faith and are believed to be correct at the time. It should be noted that some doctors may have moved or ceased practice since the information was obtained. The CAA recognizes that there are many other doctors who perform circumcisions. The list only includes those the CAA is aware of. The list includes doctors who do infant circumcisions, as well as circumcision of older children, adolescents and men. Some only circumcise infants, whereas some only circumcise older males, and some do circumcisions for any age. This is stated where known, but circumstances do change, and the CAA does not always have full details of the latest practice. Some of the doctors and clinics listed will only circumcise where there is a clear medical need (but in some cases psychological need will be considered). Some, including those mohelim who are not doctors, will only circumcise boys early in infancy. Phimosis is a common reason for circumcision. Prevention of risk of an adverse condition, infection or cancer in the future is regarded by some as a medically valid reason for circumcision. As a result, many now regard circumcision as a 'surgical vaccine.'

Where fees are quoted these are the ones last known to the CAA and may not be complete or up to date. Readers are advised to carefully check what fees will be charged, and what they cover, before making any appointment.

Disclaimer

No recommendation is made by the CAA, nor intended, as to qualifications or competence of practitioners nor the quality of advice provided by other organizations, some of which is inferior. Any reader making use of the services of any of the people or organizations listed, or any other information in this booklet, must satisfy themselves as to the standard of the advice and services which they are offered, and as to how appropriate such advice or services may be to their own needs. No responsibility can be accepted by the CAA for any consequences that may follow from the use to which a reader may put the information herein. Nothing herein is intended as, nor should it be construed as 'medical advice'. Since circumstances of each patient varies only a direct consultation with a medical practitioner can be used to obtain the medical advice appropriate for the particular needs and quality of care of each individual.

Abbreviations and Symbols Used

The year, e.g. [2025], at the end of an entry indicates the date when the information was obtained or last updated.

Additions and Corrections

Readers are asked to advise the CAA of any errors found in this booklet. Additional names and addresses from any part of the world, as well as other information relating to any entry would be very useful in order to improve our listings and provide a better service to readers. Information can be sent by post or e-mail to: brian.morris@sydney.edu.au

Acceptable Use
